

Global Physician Resilience: The Role of Social Context

Dr. Dana Hanson, Dalhousie University, Canada

Dr. Natasha Hanson, University of Prince Edward Island, Canada

Funded by World Medical Association

This research has no conflict of interest.

Physician resilience is more than the lack of pathology in the individual. It is a complex interaction of individual traits and susceptibilities but as we see in the pilot study it is also significantly influenced by the social context. We feel strongly that resilience research must include the social determinants of physician health.

WMA

Thank You